At last! Richmond is out of seventh place. The Johnnies took two games from Paterson yesterday, and jumping over Philadelphia and Norfolk, landed in

After having been pursued by the hardest kind of luck for the past six weeks, and after having been practically buried in seventh hole, the Johnny Rebs have distanced the Nemesis that has been following them, and they have at last struck their gait, moving around the course now at a winning clip. They have played ten games here since their return home, and have achieved seven victories. Two of the three games they lost were taken from them by unfair means, but that is now a thing of the past, and the cranks who have stood nobly by the team in its days of adversity are now happy.

PENNANT-WINNING BALL. In very fact they are jubilant, and well may they be, for in the games played here this week Richmond's team has demonstrated, beyond question, that it is capable of playing great ball, and the chances for landing the pennant here are exceptionally good. The Paterson team is, by no means, a poor one, and in taking four straight games from the Silk City lads the Johnnies won laurels of which they have just cause to feel proud. The two games yesterday drew forth an immense crowd of rooters, cranks, fans, and enthusiasts, a double-header for one admission being a card that few lovers of the sport could withstand. The first game started at 2:30 o'clock, but mg before that hour the grandstand and bleacheries were half filled, and the crowd grew with each succeeding minute, until before the first contest was well

SCHMIDT TWIRLED WITH SKILL Everybody was enthusiastic and all anted to see Richmond win. They used not lungs, therefore, and if a team ever served encouragement from the specialist, the Richmond team did from that yal 5,000. Schmidt, Richmond's diminuyal 5,000. Schmidt, Richmond's diminu-ive twirler, went in to manipulate the all, and he did so in a most skilful maner. He didn't attempt to keep the ball om being hit. He never does, but he id attempt to keep the Paterson hits ttered, and in this he succeeded ad-Paterson's Adonis, went in for he visitors, and when he stepped out on he diamond with his hair nicely parted own the centre alsie, his moustache urled to a nicety, and his face wreathed a smiles, he looked just too cute for any-hing. The hearts of the lady spectators sarmed to him, but the Johnnies had no entiment in them, and they went at him a a most cold-blooded manner. In the rest and second innings they batted him inmercifully, and caused his face to lose us smile, his hair to lose its part, and a moustache to lose its curl. In fact, bey gave him such a drubbing as he probably hadn't received in a long time.

The visitors were hacked from that time on, and they made no show at winning. They made hits off of Chesbro, but they were so scattered as to avail but little, and when, in the sixth inning, Richmond did some more heavy hitting and batted in four more runs, and giving up the ghost, Gilman asked Snyder to call the game, in order that train. Snyder was agreeable to this proposition, and the contest was ended, with Richmond a winner by long odds.

Third Consecutive Drubbing-A Satisfactory Umpire.

The series of four games with Newark ed this afternoon, with the third consecutive defeat of the locals, Norfolk's failure to win to-day's game was principally due to the fact that they could not hit the ball when hits would do the veys a hint of poor base-running. The principal features of the game were a home-run by Carrick and a three-bagger by Wright. Umpire Burns has officiated at seven games here this week, and has made a decidedly favorable impression, both upon locals and visitors. Score:

One of the most curious dinners ever served was recently given at the Home of Rest for Horses in London. At this home horses that have been rescued from brutal masters, if young, are nursed back to health and strength, and, if old, are allowed to finish their days in comfort. The dinner was provided by Mrs. Gore, the wife of a clergyman, who has spent a good deal of her own money in the cause, to which has been added the contributions of fellow-enthusiasts. The menu consisted of carrots cut in silees, apples chopped, sugar in lumps of convenient size, and brown and white bread baked in small loaves. Wine was not furnished, Mrs. Gore being a temperance woman, but in its stead she supplied an excellent fillip in the way of currying administered by grooms. Among the diners were two mokes, which had been rescued from costermongers, quite the fattest and happiest mokes in all England.
